

WORKS NOTIFICATION

SERVICE RELOCATIONS, PARKVILLE 8 NOVEMBER - LATE NOVEMBER 2017

Major works on the Metro Tunnel Project are now underway to support construction of a new underground station in Parkville.

John Holland has been appointed as the Managing Contractor for this package of works, which involves the relocation and protection of underground services, including drainage, water, sewer, gas, power and telecommunications.

What we are doing

Service relocations

- Installing telecommunications conduits along Pelham Street between Berkeley and Barry streets by open-cut trenching
- Installing a new water main across Grattan Street near Leicester Street by open-cut trenching
- Decommissioning and capping abandoned gas mains at two locations on the north side of Grattan Street
- Relocating the internal sewer and water pipes in the University Square car park.

Site compound

- Further to the notification sent 26 October 2017, the fenced site compound in Barry Street will now be in place until late November
- The site will be primarily used to safely store materials and plant, and staff facilities

- Minor works to support service relocation activities may occur within the compound, such as welding pipes.

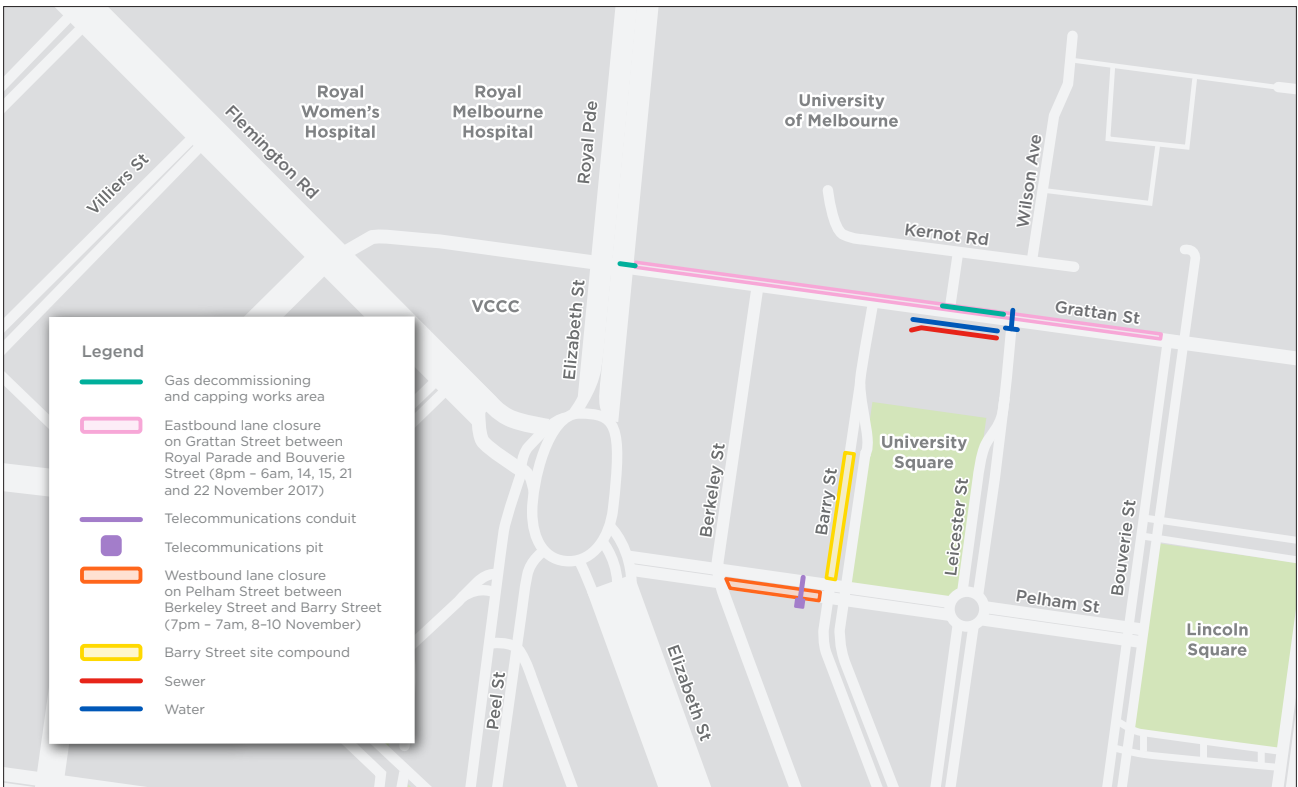

What to be aware of

- Lane closures will be in place on Grattan Street and Pelham Street (refer to map for details)
- Please refer to signage in the area as conditions will change
- Traffic management will be in place within the University Square car park throughout November, however access will be maintained
- A small number of car parks will be occupied for the works in the north-east corner of the car park
- A northbound lane closure is in place on Barry Street, between Pelham and Grattan streets, until late November. There is no left turn from Pelham Street into Barry Street during this time
- Traffic management will ensure the safety of work crews, cyclists and pedestrians and maintain the flow of traffic
- There will be a medium level of noise associated with these works
- Access to private properties, businesses and the University Square car park will be maintained at all times
- There is no planned disruption to essential services.
