

WORKS NOTIFICATION

SERVICE RELOCATIONS, PARKVILLE 20 NOVEMBER – LATE DECEMBER 2017

Major works on the Metro Tunnel Project are now underway to support construction of a new underground station in Parkville.

John Holland has been appointed as the managing contractor for this package of works, which includes the relocation and protection of underground services, including drainage, water, sewer, gas, power and telecommunications.

What we are doing

Reinstatement works

- Reinstating the asphalt in Leicester Street, Pelham Street, Bouverie Street and Flemington Road, following recent service relocations
- Reinstatement works include the use of an asphalt paver and wacker plate.

Service relocation works

- Service relocation works in the undercroft of the University of Melbourne Engineering building, including open cut trenching.

What to be aware of

- Leicester Street southbound between Pelham and Grattan streets will not be accessible during this time.
- A staged eastbound lane closure on Pelham Street, between Elizabeth and Bouverie streets
- Bouverie Street northbound between Pelham and Grattan streets will not be accessible during this time

- A southbound service lane closure on Flemington Road, at night. Local access maintained, including to the VCCC car park
- There will be some pedestrian diversions within the University of Melbourne near the worksite
- Access to private properties and businesses will be maintained
- Traffic management measures will ensure the safety of work crews, cyclists and pedestrians and maintain flow of traffic. Please refer to signage in the area
- These works will generate medium-high levels of noise
- There is no planned disruption to essential services.
